Illinois South Conference COVID-19 Response-
UPDATE #8, May 4, 2020

To Illinois South Conference pastors, church leaders, and congregations:

Extend Suspension of In-Person Worship until May 30, 2020

The Executive Committee recommends suspending in-person worship through May 30, 2020, matching the current state guidelines.

This date may be revised. The latest guidelines have now been amended to include small church gatherings of under 10 people, with social-distancing of participants.

How will your congregation approach returning to communal worship? What about planned church-sponsored activities? If the current guidelines expire May 30, your leadership might be considering:

Returning May 31
Returning on a Sunday later in June
Not returning until after Labor Day or beyond
Not returning until it feels safe for your congregation and your area.

Whenever you choose to return, your congregation will need to be prepared. You can begin planning now by gathering a small task force to discuss things like pew spacing, hymnal use, coffee time and other parts of your regular Sunday morning.
Purchase gloves and hand sanitizer now, so you’ll have them before you need them. Start asking folks in your churches to sew cloth masks for congregational use. We will share a list of ideas and best practices in coming weeks to help you with this process.

One thing we know is that COVID-19 will change how we worship going forward.
Health and safety will take precedence over traditions, and your leadership should develop good practices and policies before attempting to open your sanctuary.

DuBois Center Summer Camp: A Fallow Year

Today at a prayerful and tearful meeting, the Council moved to suspend all traditional summer camp programming at DuBois Center through August 9, 2020.
Motion carried unanimously.

We will be re-visioning our time and space at DuBois Center this summer. Watch for news by the end of May.

Friedens UCC in Irvington has made over 800 face shields for local SSM hospitals. They have also been sending cards, emails, and snacks to healthcare workers. The congregation recently had a car parade on Holy Humor Sunday to visit their homebound folks, delivering a Gerber daisy to each family to say "Friedens Loves You." They continue to deliver food to the Irvington Grade School Weekend Backpack program, too.

Zion UCC in Marion recently made the news for all they’ve been doing in the community during the pandemic. The Marion Star and a local car dealership started airing videos of all the ways Marion has been supporting each other, and Zion was the first to be featured. Zion UCC in New Baden joyfully attempted their first online worship on May 3. Zion is designated an essential service in their area because they house the only food pantry in the area. Their office manager Austin Newton keeps that vital ministry going.

Helpful Information
Many churches move to live broadcasts and shared videos of their worship services. Now that you’ve worked out the process, you need to give some thought to what kinds of licensing you need to share these works. There was an initial window where licensing requirements were suspended, but that has passed. Fortunately, Members of Faith INFO, The Pilgrim Press, and UCC Legal Counsel have your back. They have created a video to address your questions about copyright, legal implications, licensing, streaming, and more. See the video below.

UCC Offers Digital Content for Tough Times

These times are unlike anything we may have ever experienced. We know it can be challenging to meaningfully connect with people from whom we are asked to remain distant. For this reason we have developed a free collection of digital resources - social messaging and graphics - for use in this time of virtual engagement. The collection includes graphics that are optimized for Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

We invite you to use this collection as you wish to help your faith community stay connected. Use them on your website, across your social media channels, in your online bulletins, and at your virtual gatherings. We hope these resources are helpful to your setting. Download here.

2020 National Youth Event - Virtual Opportunities

Due to the unforeseeable impact of COVID19 on the health, social, and physical distancing behaviors of the world, National Youth Event (NYE) at Purdue University is postponed until June 27-30, 2022. It has been decided to offer meaningful and faithful virtual gatherings this summer. We look forward to welcoming all seniors for whom this may have been your last NYE to join us virtually and in 2022 as youth ambassadors.

Many of our original NYE presenters are excited to be able to put together meaningful content that will be shared via the web and will include live chat features during and after each premier.

On May 31st we will feature a video of LOVING YOUR NEIGHBOR IN QUARANTINE.

On June 28th we will feature a video of CREATIVITY AND JUSTICE IN QUARANTINE.

Please hold July 24-25 for a culminating interactive experience around Unite Through the Extraordinary! More details and registration are soon to come and will be found on the NYE website. If you have questions, reach out to Rev. Trayce Potter at pottert@ucc.org or Rev. Tracy Howe Wispelwey at wispelweyt@ucc.org.

One Great Hour of Sharing (UCC) - Invest in Futures

The United Church of Christ National Office invites you to serve in 2020 or 2021 in three of their programs, Partners in Service, Young Adult Service Communities, and Summer Communities of service.

Partners in Service is a program that helps increase the service capacity of our partner host organizations and provides leadership development and the opportunity for volunteers to use their gifts and skills. Call for Nominees

On behalf of General Synod Nominating Committee Chair, Ms. Jean Avison, and Vice-chair, Ms. Rachel Ditch, acting on the Bylaws of the United Church of Christ, you are invited to submit names for consideration. Your personal knowledge of talented members of your local church is very important to finding the best pool of candidates for consideration for the UCCB. Positions include:

- General Synod Moderator for General Synod 34 in 2023
- Assistant Moderator for General Synod 34 in 2023, and
- Individuals to serve 6-year terms as Members At-large to the United Church of Christ Board (UCCB) of Directors, Class of 2027.

Names can be self-nominated, solicited from Historically Underrepresented Groups, or from other entities/organizations within the United Church of Christ.

Election for nominees selected from the applications submitted will occur during the Thirty-Third General Synod in Kansas City in July of 2021.

Moderator and Assistant Moderator Overview

Preside at all sessions of the Thirty-Fourth General Synod in 2023; Serve as Ex-officio members of the United Church of Christ Board of Directors for a two-year term with voice and with vote; and The Assistant Moderator may be considered for elevation to the position of Moderator at the end of their two-year term as Assistant Moderator.

At-Large Members of the UCC Board of Directors

Eleven at-large members will be elected at General Synod 33. In line with UCC bylaws paragraph 223), the nominating committee will ensure that the Board of Directors meets or exceeds the following diversity requirements:

- at least 50 percent persons of color
- at least 50 percent be female
- one-third be persons with ordained ministerial standing or ordained partner standing
- one third be laymen
- one third be laywomen
- at least 20 percent people under the age of 30 at the time of their election.

Further, the Nominating Committee is charged with selecting from a pool of candidates with specific skill sets, professional backgrounds, and life experiences to provide a well-qualified and knowledgeable Board of Directors. With the implementation of the new governance structure, Conferences or other constituencies are no longer guaranteed a member on the Board of Directors. All At-large Members represent the best interests of the whole Church and do not represent any one Conference or other constituency. Up to three members of any one Conference can serve as Members At-large at any given time.
In reviewing the 11 Board of Directors who are finishing their terms, and in light of our diversity requirements outlined above, the Nominating Committee has a particular need for nominees who are:

Hispanic, Asian, or represent peoples of color or other ethnicities;
Are under the age of 60, with a particular need for leaders younger than 30; and/or
Have skill sets in the finance, business, philanthropy and legal fields.

Please don't overlook our second-career clergy when looking for these skill sets. In the recent past the work of the committee has been greatly aided when several clergy candidates were found to have advanced degrees in any number of disciplines and careers prior to entering the ministry.

Candidates should complete and return the electronic nominating form, found here. Completion of this form also constitutes consent to a criminal background check (as stated in the UCC Safe Church Policy) and other background checks related to employment and education. The submission of the form also represents the candidate's agreement for their biographical information to be published with the materials for General Synod delegate review. The Nominating Committee needs the candidates to be aware that, should they be elected, they will be approached for an annual gift to the United Church of Christ above their current level of giving.

UCC Board candidates will want to know:

- The Board of Directors meets twice a year, in the spring and fall. Meetings are nearly always held in Cleveland, Ohio.
- The Board of Directors also meets during the General Synod, in the host city, for the full duration. That meeting begins on a Thursday and ends with the close of Synod the following Tuesday evening.
- There will also be conference calls and webinars at other times during the six-year term.
- Members of the Board of Directors are not paid. Travel, housing, and meals are provided through the budget of the Board of Directors and all reasonable out-of-pocket travel expenses, such as ground transportation, airport parking and gratuities, are reimbursed following each meeting.

Please carefully review the requests of the Committee and select up to four of your members for application consideration. Feel free to share the contents of this letter with them and encourage them to access the link and complete the nomination form, indicating that you are nominating them.

It is important to know that all nominees submitted by Local Pastors should be first vetted by your Conference Minister. The nominee application form will also ask the nominee to include the name of the Conference Minister.

Thank you for all of your efforts in assuring the composition of a truly extraordinary governing body.

With gratitude for your partnership in our work and ministry,
Jean Avison, Chair of General Synod Nominating Committee

Our Decision - Fallow Ground

Here in the Midwest, fallow ground is a familiar concept. It refers to land that has been plowed but not seeded for one or more growing seasons. It is a ritual that helps restore the land's fertility.

Leaders of the Illinois South Conference and DuBois Center have spent the last month planning and preparing with great hope, while simultaneously reviewing current data to determine if we can safely serve children at camp this summer. The favorites bar on my monitor is littered with links to the Illinois (IDHP) and Missouri Departments of Public Health, John's Hopkins University, the American Camp Association, the CDC and others.

Latest projections and models show that COVID-19 may peak as late as the end of June in southern Illinois, although no one knows for certain what the current staged lifting of restrictions might bring. Our #1 priority at DuBois Center is the health and safety of our campers, guests and staff. After long and careful deliberations, leaders of the Conference and DuBois Center have come to accept that we cannot provide our summer camping programs as planned. Try as hard as we might, we just can't envision being able to offer a safe experience for children and youth this season.

At a regularly called meeting of the Illinois South Conference Council, after prayerful and tearful consideration, it was decided that this summer will be a season of fallow ground for DuBois Center. The vote was unanimous, though made with heavy hearts. Currently scheduled programs for June - August 9, 2020 are being postponed until summer 2021. The ground was plowed and harrowed as brochures were sent to eager families, potential staff were interviewed, and plans were set in place. But the seeds, our blessed campers and leaders, will not be sown at DuBois Center this summer.

The situation in our state and region may change, but we felt it was important to be proactive and make a decision sooner rather than later. New protocols for groups related to distancing, cleaning, safety in sleeping areas, food service, life-guarding and participation in cherished activities are being established, but they need to be in place and practiced before camp can open. This is just not possible for DuBois Center by June or even July.

We are taking some time to grieve this decision and the loss of a summer of joy at camp. During the coming weeks, a team of creative volunteers will be exploring ways that our campers and their families can stay engaged with DuBois Center. Watch for news by the end of May.

We realize that finances are tight for many right now. That was one of our primary reasons for implementing a Register without Risk policy. However, before making a decision about the fees you have already paid, I hope you will consider all the options outlined in the attached document. Yes, you may still request a refund, transfer to a DuBois Center event in the fall, or donate the fees paid to camp. In addition, you may also transfer your payment to Summer Camp 2021. There is no rush to decide, so please take your time. No actual refunds will be made until early June. We want to ensure systems are in place and avoid wasting valuable staff time.

As you may be aware, our spring and summer programs take significant effort and resources to create, much of which is expended months before the first camper or guest arrives. Some of the expenses continue regardless - insurance, basic utilities, animal care, and critical maintenance and office work. The loss of this year's spring and summer seasons is tough on our hearts, but it is also challenging financially.

DuBois Center is resilient, but we do need your prayers and support. If you are able to make a donation at this critical time, it will go a long way to help DuBois Center withstand the loss of spring and summer revenue. Links to online giving can also be found at ISCUCC.org or DuBoisCenter.org and the mailing address for DuBois Center is included below.

In 2020, DuBois Center and the Illinois South Conference celebrate 55 years of ministry and our work has only just begun. We believe in an Easter God, a God of joy and hope and peace. We enter this summer of fallow ground giving thanks to our loving Creator who truly does make all things new again.

Sending prayers to you, your families and communities.

Peace,

Shirley Asmussen AKA Kayak, Director of Outdoor Ministries

Living with Dementia: The Gift of Crisis

The last few weeks have certainly added stress and survival thoughts to the minds of those caring for aging loved ones struggling with dementia or Alzheimer’s. Although each of us is in a different boat, we are all weathering this pandemic storm together. Some are sailing along with ease, but for others, this is a crisis of epic proportions. We hope you know crisis can be a gift. “You have been offered the gift of crisis. As Kathleen Norris reminds us, the Greek root of the word crisis is 'to sift,' as in to shake out the excesses and leave only what's important. That's what crises do. They shake things up until we are forced to hold on to only what matters most.”

If we can embrace our faith/beliefs and allow ourselves to experience this crisis in this way, it does ease the pressure. Sift away the things you cannot control, embrace the things you can and the things that are truly important. How you respond to the person you are caring for is dependent on your inner strength and how you choose to respond along with your ability to know what matters most -- like the love and compassion you have for that person. Focus on that and the fact that you are doing the best job you can in their best interest. No, it is not going to be perfect; remember, it is a storm! The winds are going to blow, the rain will be intense at times, not to mention the swells tossing your boat around while the waves crash over the deck. Hang on! Remember to sift. Keep smiling, hoping, and loving yourself, and you will have the confidence to endure this storm.

To help you with this journey, here are some tips from Stacey Rhodes, Adult Day Program Director and Dementia Care Specialist, that you can put into practice.

1. Adjust your expectations. Having unrealistic expectations can leave you exhausted, frustrated, and discouraged. Don't sweat the small stuff. Step back and take a breath!
2. Focus on what your loved one can do and not what they cannot do. Encourage independence while recognizing limitations. How can you make a task easier?
3. Remind yourself this is a brain disease. They are not acting this way on purpose. Assist them in maintaining their dignity and feelings of self-worth.
4. All behaviors have meaning. They are trying to convey a message because they cannot tell you with words. They may need to use the toilet, be experiencing pain, be bored, be hungry, feel distressed because it is too noisy, etc.
5. Stop and think before you react to your loved one's behaviors. What are they trying to tell you? What just happened to trigger this behavior? It is not always easy to figure out.
6. Step into their world. Do not try to bring them back into our logical world. Trying to reason or argue with your loved one will only bring you frustration and disappointment.
7. Find ways to help your loved one feel empowered daily. Give them choices as to what to wear, eat, etc. Limit choices so as not to confuse them.
8. Live in the moment. Use humor.
9. Get comfortable with taking control. You will need to make decisions that you once made together.
10. Learn to cope with your stress, anger, and frustrations. Caregiving is a roller coaster of emotions. Reach out to family, friends, and professionals. The essential advice we give to a caregiver is to take care of yourself first. You need to be healthy, physically, and mentally, so you are at your best to care for your loved one.
As you read through these 10 tips, you will immediately relate to some of them. Others may make you feel uncomfortable or think, “how do I do that?” If you would like to discuss these tips further, contact St. John’s Community Care office. Consider joining their support groups or caregiver classes. You are not alone. St. John’s is ready to assist you. Visit their website or call 618-344-5008.
